Rotary hears report on General Assembly

Bulloch County Representative Jones Lane was not coy about it at all as he talked to the Statesboro Rotary Club Monday and told them that he was against the Appropriations Bill as it was passed in the Georgia General Assembly which adjourned on Monday of last week.

The bill as it was passed provides for a budget of $412,000,000 for 1961-62 and $420,000,000 for 1962-63.

Representative Lane sees deficit spending in this new appropriations bill and an increase of taxes as a result.

He told Rotarians how the budget bill was put together and the way department heads accumulate funds they do not use from year to year, yet they asked for and got the same amount or more year after year to add to the surplus which had accumulated since 1956 when the last appropriation bill was passed. He expresses his disapproval of this sort of thing.

Mr. Lane favored restricting the Governor's power to spend surplus funds to $10,000,000. He thinks it is wrong to give the state's chief executive this power which could result in the willful waste of the people's money.

Mr. Lane made it perfectly plain that he is against anything that would increase the taxes on the people of Georgia and added that if the people of Bulloch County want to keep him at home from the General Assembly next election, that was alright with him, but he wanted them to know that he could not support anything that was not right.

This we approve.

This we believe the people of Bulloch County will approve.

Here is the way it looks to me

It was our good fortune to be one of the invited guests at the annual FFA Father-Son banquet last week. We always marvel at the performance of the young men who receive in the organization is evident at these banquets as they do all of the presiding, speech making, etc. This year their guest speaker, another young FFA'er was an unusually outstanding speaker. The young man, Lynn Reddick of Portal, is the state vice-president of the organization and spoke in such a manner that you listened to everything he had to say. There are few grown men that can speak with the ability that this youth spoke with—it is always good to see these extra qualities developed in the youth during the school days. And it speaks well for those that have a part in seeing that it does develop.

Renew your driver's license now

Col. William P. Trotter, director of the Georgia Department of Public Safety, allows as how there'll be no extension of the time for renewing drivers' licenses in Georgia this year.

So—if you have not already secured your driver's licenses, better get on the ball. Renew it now and avoid the long lines later when the last-minute renewers start their rush.

All licenses marked with an expiration date of March 31, 1961, any license marked permanent (except Veterans' licenses) and all learners' licenses must be renewed by that date.

All learners' and regular operators' licenses are $1 for one year; five-year regular operators' licenses are $5; one-year chauffeurs' licenses are $2 and five-year chauffeurs' licenses are $10. No fee is required for permanent Veterans' licenses.

A State Patrolman will be in the Bulloch County courthouse today and Saturday to renew licenses. Either of these two days is a good time to renew your license—remember, there'll be no extension of the deadline this year the man says.

Happy birthday to the American Legion

Tonight members of the Dexter Allen Post No. 90 of the American Legion and the Post's unit of the Legion Auxiliary will observe jointly the forty-second birthday of the founding of the American Legion.

It was back on March 15-17, 1919, in Paris, France, that this great veteran's organization was founded.

The Dexter Allen Post here has a long record of fine services to its members and to the community in which they live.

We join the community in saying "Happy Birthday" to the local Legionnaires and members of their Auxiliary.

PO cracking down on smut by mail

The new Postmaster General in Washington has issued heartening news for those who are seriously concerned by the mass transmittal of obscenity through the U.S. mails.

On January 27 of this year two people were sentenced in Federal Court in Washington, D. C. on charges of conspiring to use the mails in the transmittal of obscene material.

Postmaster General Day said: "We in the Post Office Department are gratified at the sentences given to these serious offenders who have been convicted of using the mails to transmit smut material."

He added that the post office has plans for the toughest crackdown ever conducted for such violators of the laws against mailing pornographic material.

The post office department still needs the assistance of the public in reporting receipt of illegally mailed material. If you or your children should receive any of this filth report it to Postmaster Reppard DeLoach here in Statesboro. It will help to save the envelope for him also. He'll follow through on it in accordance with the post office department's new policy.

the editor's uneasy chair

April 1, 1948, is an important date to the people of Statesboro and Bulloch County. And April 1, 1961, will be equally important, because on this date the city will celebrate the 13th anniversary of the Statesboro Recreation Department.

Since its beginning, the department has established one of the most complete athletic programs in the nation, and the National Recreation Assn. cites the Statesboro program as a model for small cities.

Much of the credit for the success of the venture goes to Max Lockwood, department superintendent. Lockwood has been with the department since its infant days, before it gained national recognition, and it is largely through his efforts and interests in sports that the outfit has grown into such a big-time operation.

The community leaders also deserve a great deal of credit for keeping the ball rolling. Instead of being satisfied with just a "boys club," the group pushed forward, developing new programs for girls, older boys and adults.

Today the overall program includes planning for pre-school age, scouting, boys clubs, girls clubs, teen programs, civic programs, arts and crafts, square dancing, young married people, events for college students, semi-citizens, camping, and hiking.

The sports program features activities for all ages. Representative teams in the programs in 1960 captured first place in First District competition in all the events sponsored by the Georgia Recreation Society—swimming, track, baseball and football.

The main department branch, located on Fair Road, is complete with a reading room, snack bar, basketball courts, football field, tennis courts, swimming pool, baseball diamond and playground equipment for the youngsters.

In moving ahead with plans to increase the scope of its activities, the city recently completed construction of a modern $30,000 swimming pool for Negro citizens in the area. The pool is located on a 10-acre park adjacent to a community center which includes facilities for all ages.

With the addition of the new programs, the recreation department has received national acclaim. The Ladies' Home Journal in a special story called the overall program one of the best of its kind in the nation.

The Georgia Power Co. named Statesboro as a champion home town for three consecutive years.

"But the department is not limited to sports activities," Lockwood said, explaining the functions of the institution. "We have so many things that are just a part of the overall picture."

Americans pay about the same share of their incomes for food now as before World War II—and they are eating more and better food, according to USDA reports.

"Let every nation know, whether it wishes us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to assure the survival and the success of liberty. This much we pledge—and more."

"TO THOSE PEOPLE in the huts and villages of half the globe struggling to break the bonds of mass misery, we pledge our best efforts to help them help themselves, for whatever period is required—not because the Communists may be doing it, not because we seek their votes, but because it is right. If a free society can't help the many who are not helped, it cannot save the few who are rich."

"Now the trumpet summons us again—not as a call to bear arms, though arms we need—not as a call to battle, though embattled we are—but a call to bear the burden of a long twilight struggle year in and year out, in joy, in pain, in tribulation—in a struggle against the common enemies of man: tyranny, poverty, disease and war itself."

"It is a great message from a great President. Surely it is one which will warm the hearts of freedom loving peoples everywhere."

"Finally, whether you are citizens of America or citizens of the world, ask yourselves here the same high standards of strength and sacrifice which we ask of you. With a good conscience, we can only live with history. The final judge of our deeds, let us go forth to lead the land we love, asking His aid and His blessing, knowing that here on earth God's work must truly be our own."

"Listen to these words. Study them. Think on them. Believe them. The world is very different now. For man has made his mortal hands the power to abolish all forms of human poverty and all forms of human pain. And yet the same old rascal, old-fashioned, old-fashioned beliefs for which are still at issue around the globe—the beliefs that the rights of man

His wife countered this by saving the empty pint bottles for a while. One afternoon she placed all these bottles side by side across the entire length of the living room to spell out the word "goodbye." She then packed up and left.

it seems to me...

There are many who did not hear Jos. Kennedy's presentation of his inaugural address to the American people and to the world. It was a fateful day for America and for our allies, for it was a youthful, energetic, resourceful and fearless leader presented his message of confidence to the Western world.

Many times now have I read his historic message and each time as I read it and study the thoughts encompassed therein, there comes into my consciousness the feeling that here truly is a man possessed with the qualities of leadership so sorely needed for our times.

EVERYONE WHO believes in the future of this nation and everyone who believes in the greatness of these United States, should read and study this address which has been termed by many as, "A Great Speech."

Listen to these words. Study them. Think on them. Believe them. The world is very different now. New Masters Trophy . . .

TO THE WINNER of the 25th playing of the Masters Golf Tournament will be this new trophy. Executed to scale, in silver, it is an exact reproduction of the historical old Manor House on the Golf course property which now serves as the Main Club House of the Augusta National. It rests on a plateau of silver which stands on a black ebony base over four feet in diameter. A forged silver band around the ebony base provides ample space on which to engrave the names of all the past champions as well as the new winners for many years into the future. The new trophy will remain at the Club. A has relief miniature replica will be presented each year to the winner.

Approximately 100 of the world's greatest golfers will be shooting for wins. The contestants for this tournament are by invitation only.

This tournament is one that can be enjoyed by golfers and non-golfers alike. For the non-golfer the beautiful 18 hole course offers breath-taking flowers and natural scenery that defies the non-believer in the wonders of outdoor life.

The golfer will have the opportunity to see golfing "greats" ranging from Tommy Armour to Jack Nicklaus. This tournament is truly a tournament of champions as all of the past twenty-four winners will be on hand. Present and former U.S. Open champions, U.S. Amateur champions, British Open and Amateur champions, P.G.A. champions, 1859 Walker and Ryder Cup Team players, and selected golfers will be there to shoot for golf's "Masters" Tournament title.

The Augusta National Masters tournament is designed to afford the golfer a true test of ability and at the same time, a so well run that the gallery becomes larger as each year comes around. There is provided for the spectators all that is desired to enjoy the tournament and the breath-taking surroundings.

More soybeans are needed for Georgia

By ROY POWELL
County Agent

There is an excellent market for soybeans in Georgia. Bulloch County farmers can take advantage of this market by producing high, profitable yields.

The principal source of protein for mixed broiler and other feed is soybeans. Oil mills use a lot of soybeans, too.

Most of the soybeans used for feeding broilers in Georgia are imported from other states, and Georgia farmers should not miss the opportunity to produce them here at home.

Georgia grows 95,000 acres of soybeans in 1961 with an average yield of 16½ bushels. It would require 949,138 acres at this yield just to produce the 450,000 acres of soybeans used for broiler feed alone.

We could double the average yield by following recommended practices, according to University of Georgia College of Agriculture experimental data. Even then, it would take over 450,000 acres to produce the soybeans needed for the state's broiler feed needs.

More information on soybean production is available in the county agent's office.

PRECIOUS RESOURCES BEING WASTED

Soil and water are two of Georgia's most precious resources, yet we continue to waste them at an alarming rate. The recent heavy rains and flooding of streams serve to emphasize the great need for conservation.

Land plus water equals life. Soil remains the main source for what we eat, wear, the homes we live in and the ultimate happiness. History records that civilizations can not exist unless they have good soil and plenty of water. Population trends indicate that 15 years from now our nation will need the following: 16½ billion pounds more red meat; 47 billion pounds more milk; 20.7 million tons more fruits and vegetables; 20 billion more eggs; 100 percent more poultry and 60 percent more lumber.

All of these must come from the soil or are dependent on what the soil produces. We are today faced with the problem of conserving our soil and water so we can feed and clothe a population that will almost double in 35 to 40 years.

In a state like ours, where income from eggs in 1960 is estimated at $70 million, reports Robert A. Gray, Extension poultry marketing specialist.

CEREALS FOR MEAT

Millions of people in the world cannot afford a diet high in animal protein; they eat the cereals instead of feeding them to animals. Cereals constitute two-thirds of the diet of people in Japan and India. Red meat and dairy products represent less than four percent of the Japanese diet and less than two percent of the Indian diet, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Income from eggs in 1960 is estimated at $70 million, reports Robert A. Gray, Extension poultry marketing specialist.

PEANUT VARIETIES

Fifty-six percent of the peanut acreage in Georgia is now planted in varieties of peanuts developed at Georgia Agricultural Experiment Stations. Among these varieties are Dixie Spanish, G.F.A. Spanish, Southwestern Runner 56-15, Virginia Runner G-28, Virginia Bunch 67, Virginia Bunch G-2 and Georgia 119-20.

It is a fact that clean silk and woolen tows will not be made in 35 to 40 years, says Miss Leonora Anderson, head, Extension Clothing department.

THESE ARE NEW DOLLARS IN THE ECONOMIC STREAM

b. Business created between the farmer and consumer in the handling, processing and distribution of farm products exceeds $2 billion annually. The goods which Georgia farmers sell for $700 million cost consumers $2.7 billion.

Within these $2 billion are hundreds of businesses providing employment to thousands of persons, purchasing vast quantities of supplies - and utilizing millions of dollars in credit. Broilers - $185 million; beef - $330 million; to consumers.

Georgia Farmers are great buyers of goods used in production. In 1958 they bought the following:

Feeding: Feed, 145,100,000; Fertilizer, 68,200,000; Seeds, 10,400,000; Tractor, trucks, Cars, Repairs on motor vehicles, Farm machinery, 14,837,000; Petroleum fuel, 30,849,000; Building materials and repairs, 28,912,000; Miscellaneous, 24,000,000; Labor, $65 to 70,000,000; plus $200 million plus for consumer goods.

d. The great area of agriculture accounts for 55% of the jobs of all the employed persons in Georgia.

AGRICULTURE IS NOT A DECLINING INDUSTRY

Two-thirds of the value of raw materials are farm products.

Changes in past 20 years greater than in scope and degree than those of the preceding 200.

YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT

Family food buying

By MARY GIBBS, Consumer Marketing Specialist, University of Georgia Cooperative Extension Service

Q. What is a Grade A egg?

A. Grade A and AA are top quality eggs. They have a large proportion of thick white which stands up well around a firm, high yolk. They are usually delicate in flavor and are good for all uses.

Q. Can a small egg be a Grade A egg?

A. Yes, the grade insures the quality of the egg, not the size. The words "Extra Large", "Large", "Medium", and "Small" represent the minimum weight in ounces per dozen, not the number of eggs in the carton. A dozen small Grade A eggs must weigh a minimum of 18 ounces.

Q. Since Grade B and C eggs are lower in quality, what are their uses?

A. Grade B and C eggs can be used for thickening custards, pie fillings, sauce and salad dressings; hard cooked to be served creamed or chopped in salads; and for scrambled eggs with other foods such as mushrooms, onions, tomatoes and spaghetti.

Grade B and C eggs have a rather flat yolk and most of the white is flat. The yolk may break easily and may have a mottled appearance. These qualities make them unsuitable for poached, fried and shirred eggs.

Q. What size egg should I buy to get the most for my money?

A. You must consider weight (size) in relation to price. An Egg Buyer's Guide which is pocketbook size and works like a slide rule is available for shoppers to use in answering this question. I suggest you use one of these. Two guides are available: one for the price of large eggs is more than 1.3 above the price of small eggs, then small eggs are the better buy, for ounce of 18 ounces.

2. If the price of large eggs is more than seven cents above the price of medium eggs, then medium eggs are a better buy.

Q. How can I use various sizes of eggs in standard recipes?

A. Most recipes call for medium eggs. The following table comparing the number of eggs to make a cup should help you with this problem:

Whole Eggs M L S

Egg Whites 5 4 3

Egg Yolks 8 7 9

NATIONAL 4-H CLUB WEEK CELEBRATED BY NEGRO CLUBBERS IN BULLOCH

By LEXINE ROYALS Reporter

National 4-H Club Week which began March 4, and continued through March 12th, was celebrated by the 1,310 Negro 4-H club boys and girls in Bulloch County.

The "Kick Off" for the week's work was highlighted by the District 4-H Council meeting, held at the Savannah State College, Saturday, March 4th.

Eight Council Members, three local advisers, and the county agent represented Bulloch at this meeting.

These Council members are: Glenora Martin, Lydia Owens, Mae Francis Odum, Lma Jean, Mae, Freddie Ruth Hazard, Loxine Royals, Loretta Hollo-way, and Arthur Young; and the advisers are Mr. Purvis Royals, Mrs. Maxine Royals, and the supervisor, Mrs. E. Marie Martin. Also attending this meeting were some two hundred 4-Hers from seventeen other counties in the Southeast district.

The program for this meeting was exceptional. It was filled with what is believed to be the necessary educational processes and activities to meet the needs of boys and girls in their attempt to prepare themselves for life, that is, living full, active and useful lives. Not only was the educational side emphasized, but the recreational side was demonstrated, showing how it should fit into life's role of activities, and showing the effects of wholesome recreation.

The information gathered at this District Council meeting was brought back to Bulloch, and during the entire week various clubs presented programs in celebration of National 4-H Club Week.

Our motive was to inspire and to stimulate others in 4-H Club church on Monday night with Mrs. Jack Norton as leader.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. White and children, Anne, Jimmy and Barbara Sue of Statesboro visited relatives here Sunday afternoon.

Georgia Youth assembly meets in Atlanta today

The hallowed halls of Georgia's State Capitol will take on a new look this week when the Sixteenth State Y.M.C.A. Youth Assembly gets underway March 16, 17, and 18. Over 870 fresh young faces from 109 Georgia communities will be filling positions recently occupied by their senior counterparts in the General Assembly.

Heading the array of outstanding H-Y and T-H-Y leaders from throughout Georgia will be Youth Governor Johnny Barger, Wrens; Lieutenant Governor Bill Exum, Lakeland; Speaker of the House Wilson Wheeler, Waycross; and Speaker Pro Tem Jimmy Childs, Dalton; and Speaker Pro Tem John Taylor, LaGrange.

Martha Faye Hodges of Statesboro will serve as Asst. House Doorkeeper.

Johnny Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Martin of Statesboro, is a candidate for Youth Governor and will be active at the meeting.

During their three day session, the youthful lawmakers will be an extremely "Busy Body." Consideration of the 42 bills and resolutions on this year's legislative calendar begins Thursday afternoon following the organization of the House and Senate and the administration of the oaths of office by Justices T. S. Candler and Carlton Mobley. This year the joint legislative session will be such controversial issues as abolishing the county unit system and preventing married students from attending public schools.

Thursday evening Lieutenant Governor Garland Byrd addresses a joint session of the House and Senate. Youth Governor Johnny Barger follows Mr. Byrd with his inauguration message.

The youthful senators and representatives combine business with pleasure Friday night at the Governor's Banquet as they listen to the campaign speeches of the six gubernatorial candidates for the 1962 Assembly. Marilyn White, Wrens, Youth Governor Barger's First Lady, serves as hostess for this event.

The election of the new governor, as well as 12 other top officials take place Saturday during the closing hours of the Assembly. The announcement of the winners of the election, of the P. McCutchen awards for the Best Performances on the House and Senate Floors, and of the ATLANTA CONSTITUTION Best Bill Awards, will climax the final joint session.

The theme for the 1961 Assembly is "Liberty Must Be Earned Generation." The youth Legislature is a project of the Youth and Government Committee of the State Y.M.C.A. of Georgia. Mr. Walter R. Thomas, Atlanta, chairman, Jerry J. Bryant, Atlanta, general secretary of the State Y is Director.

Johnny Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Martin of Statesboro, is a candidate for Youth Governor and will be active at the meeting.

During their three day session, the youthful lawmakers will be an extremely "Busy Body." Consideration of the 42 bills and resolutions on this year's legislative calendar begins Thursday afternoon following the organization of the House and Senate and the administration of the oaths of office by Justices T. S. Candler and Carlton Mobley. This year the joint legislative session will be such controversial issues as abolishing the county unit system and preventing married students from attending public schools.

Thursday evening Lieutenant Governor Garland Byrd addresses a joint session of the House and Senate. Youth Governor Johnny Barger follows Mr. Byrd with his inauguration message.

The youthful senators and representatives combine business with pleasure Friday night at the Governor's Banquet as they listen to the campaign speeches of the six gubernatorial candidates for the 1962 Assembly. Marilyn White, Wrens, Youth Governor Barger's First Lady, serves as hostess for this event.

The election of the new governor, as well as 12 other top officials take place Saturday during the closing hours of the Assembly. The announcement of the winners of the election, of the P. McCutchen awards for the Best Performances on the House and Senate Floors, and of the ATLANTA CONSTITUTION Best Bill Awards, will climax the final joint session.

The theme for the 1961 Assembly is "Liberty Must Be Earned Generation." The youth Legislature is a project of the Youth and Government Committee of the State Y.M.C.A. of Georgia. Mr. Walter R. Thomas, Atlanta, chairman, Jerry J. Bryant, Atlanta, general secretary of the State Y is Director.

To Beat the Band

By DALE JENSEN

THIS IS THE FOURTH in a series of articles based on information found in a booklet published by the National Education Association, entitled, "Will Your Child Get A Quality Education?" The first three articles dealt with the question, What are the ingredients of Quality Education, and with the first two ingredients, QUALITY TEACHERS, AND QUALITY CURRICULUMS. We conclude the series now with QUALITY SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

Why are QUALITY BUILDINGS important for your child? Good classrooms increase your child's chances of getting a Quality Education. Your child can learn more in a classroom that is well-equipped, attractive, and of appropriate size.

YOUR CHILD learns less when he is crowded into a classroom without space enough in which to work.

—required to use furniture not his size
—required to study without proper light, heat, or ventilation
—required to look at diagrams with peeling paint or falling plaster —deprived of stimulating books, films, and other learning materials
—deprived of auxiliary facilities such as library, auditorium, and playground
—deprived of a full day of school

New schools alone are not always the answer. Even if the school is new, your child is probably not getting a Quality Education if he is in an overcrowded classroom. Even though the school is new, your child's classroom may be poorly equipped. Many new school buildings are virtually bare of instructional equipment and materials—because the school district had to mortgage itself to the hilt just to erect the building.

All of the ingredients of QUALITY EDUCATION are costly. For a classroom of 25 students, it takes $200 per pupil to provide a $500 a year teacher, $300 per pupil to provide a $10,000 a year teacher, but only $180 per child for teacher's salaries.

QUALITY CLASSROOMS are costly. The average school now being constructed costs about $40,000 per classroom. Costs include: purchase of site, site grading and improvement, construction (classrooms, corridors, cafeterias, libraries, etc.), equipment (heating, plumbing, etc.), furniture, architect and similar fees.

The cost of books for a well-stocked elementary library for 600 pupils is about $18,000. The cost of equipment for a science program for a medium-sized high school is about $30,000.

Modern machines for a good business-education program for 125 pupils cost about $20,000. The question for us to answer is, are we willing to pay the price for QUALITY EDUCATION? And if we are, how do we go about doing it? These and other questions are being debated at the local, state, and national level. You would do well to keep abreast of developments and let your elected leaders know your thoughts.

In a ceremony marked by simplicity and dignity, Mrs. Ann Perry Buck, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Charles Perry, Sr. of Clemson, South Carolina and the late Mr. Perry became the bride of Michael Hall McDougald, son of Mrs. Walter Edwin McDougald of Statesboro and the late Mr. McDougald, in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church of Columbus, Friday morning, March 10.

Mrs. Loomis Martin of Columbus was matron of honor for the bride, while Marcus Bartlett of Atlanta was best man. The chapel was beautifully decorated for the occasion with side units featuring arrangements of white gladioli, mums and tuberoses. Mrs. James Jenkins rendered a program of nuptial music. Her selections included Bach's "If Thou Be Near," Massenet's "Meditation from Thaïs," and DuBois' "Cantata."

Mrs. Martin was gowning in a bone-colored costume suit featuring a cummerbund of green Italian print. Her hat was a matching pill box. Her bouquet was a half-crescent design of pale green cymbidium orchids. The bride, given in marriage by her brother Thomas Charles Perry, Jr., was gowning in a Rentner creation of mint green featuring a cummerbund of Alençon lace. Her hat was a Howard Hodge creation of white lilies. She wore matching green accessories. Her wedding bouquet was crescent shaped with white stephanotis and roses. Dr. Sidney Austin Gates, pastor of First Presbyterian, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The couple left immediately for a brief wedding trip to Charleston and Savannah.

The bride attended Columbus High School and Wesleyan Conservatory where she majored in voice and piano. The groom attended Statesboro High School and was graduated from Emory University and did post-graduate work at the University of Ga. He served with Counter-Intelligence in Europe. Rush on for applications for GSC summer school and fall quarter

A rush of housing applications for summer school and the 1961 fall quarter are flowing into Georgia Southern at a record rate of speed, causing the date for students to be assured of receiving a room reservation moved up to March 22.

To receive priority on housing applications, present students must have their applications in by March 22. The application must be accompanied by the $25 reservation deposit.

All applications received after that date will be put on a first-come, first-served basis. This means that all applications including those from transfer and new students will be considered after this date. Assurance for a room will depend on making housing applications by the designated time.

Housing applicants will be placed on a waiting list in order of receipt of application after the available space has been filled.

Bob Scruggs is finalist in Scholarship test

Robert C. Scruggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Scruggs of Vista Circle of Statesboro, has been named a finalist in the 1960-61 National Merit Scholarship Program competition and has been given a Certificate of Merit which attests to his high academic promise.

Principal J. L. Sharpe of the Statesboro High School made the announcement of young Scruggs' honor this week.

Young Scruggs, a senior at SHS, attained the finalist status by his distinguished performance on two tests and upon endorsement by his high school.

Approximately six-tenths of one percent of high school seniors in each state received this award.

"Merit Scholars" to be announced April 27, will be selected from the "Finalist" group.

Merit scholars receive four-year awards and carry stipends that range from $100 a year to $1,500 a year. Merit scholarships are accompanied by grants to the colleges.

Each student chooses his college and course of study. They have been conducted for a period of six years.

The seventh program will begin in March and the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test will be given at the Statesboro High School on Saturday, March 11, and all juniors are invited and urged to take it.

government of the people, by the people and for the people." He added that there is no question that certain abuses grew up under the expansion of our free enterprise system, but that we had laws which could have corrected every such situation if properly administered by our local, state or federal governments, with honest support by our courts.

ANTI-MONOPOLY NONSENSE

Col. Rockwell's comment on the present highly publicized federal prosecutions for alleged price fixing practices was "It can truly be said that our government does not let the right hand know what it is doing to the left hand. Price fixing in this country is not only permitted in some private lines, but prices are fixed by the government itself in other private business lines—with heavy penalties for violations."

"Any manufacturer who has not tried to build his products so much better and cheaper than his competitor for the purpose of monopolizing the market for his products, is not working for the best interests of his investors, his employees, and his actual and potential customers. If he does not make a profit, we can agree with Samuel Gompers, who said, in effect, that there is nothing worse for the economy than a business which operates at a loss—and he was speaking particularly for the working man. Big profits in an enterprise or line of industry encourage competition—and who can remember any very profitable enterprise which was able to continue its monopoly for any long period without constantly lowering its costs and simultaneously lowering its prices so as to expand its markets. The growth of every business is inhibited by the United States Supply and Demand, and every attempt to increase the percentage of profit above a reasonable level is counterproductive by the immutable economic law of Diminishing Returns."

"Because wages are 75 percent of the cost of producing steel, the present wage rates have brought the United States steel industry up against the same law of Diminishing Returns, and steel is a basic industry."

Cherokee County, once covering most of north Georgia, was acquired from and named for the Cherokee Indians who inhabited the area. Created in 1831, the original Cherokee County land has since been split into 22 other Georgia counties. Cherokee now occupies 414 square miles with a population of 22,000. Canton, the county seat, owes much of its early development to the efforts of R. T. Jones, grandfather of famous golfer, "Bobby" Jones. Mr. Jones was instrumental in establishing a bank, marble finishing plant and textile mill there. Other towns in this north central Georgia county include Woodstock, Holly Springs, Nelson, Wainka and Ball. Cherokee is one of the foremost counties in Georgia in the development of the broiler industry. Over 90 percent of the county's farm income comes from this industry.

In Georgia counties where the sale of beer and ale is legal, the United States Brewers Foundation works constantly to assure their sale under pleasant, orderly conditions. Believing that strict law enforcement serves the best interest of the people of Georgia, the Foundation stresses close cooperation with the Armed Forces, law enforcement and governing officials.

Rockwell marketing concept is 'Theme' of annual report

PITTSBURGH, PA. — A detailed report on the company's marketing concept, along with a description of their approach to the complex problems of marketing today, is the "Theme of the Year" in the 1960 Rockwell Annual Report released Tuesday, March 7.

The report on marketing is presented within the framework of five individual marketing activities: market studies, research and development, sales, advertising and distribution.

Rockwell Manufacturing Company, a leading manufacturer of control devices, such as valves, regulators and electronic control systems; measuring devices, such as petroleum gauges and water meters; parking meters, taximeters and voting machines; and portable and stationery power tools.

Reporting to the stockholders, W. F. Rockwell, Jr., president, said, "We firmly believe that our continuing success will be in direct proportion to the effectiveness of our marketing program."

The related diversification of Rockwell, the associated differences of product development, production, sales and distribution, and the strategic decentralization of our plants are major assets. But, the ability to coordinate these activities our marketing program is our major problem.

The problem is significant, Mr. Rockwell said, because "no business is far-seeing management so vital as in marketing. We feel that on efficient marketing, more than any other factor, depends our long-range future as a company."

BUSINESS STEADY

Mr. Rockwell expressed confidence and optimism for the
